

MacDon, Inc. is Moving!

Submitted by Paul Jeffrey

After nearly 10 years in our present location, MacDon's U.S. headquarters is moving to a larger facility.

Kansas City, Missouri has been an ideal spot for MacDon, Inc. and our present facilities have served us well. Operating out of a major mid-west transportation hub has allowed us to service our U.S. dealer network in all directions.

Located just to the east of I-29, our new location will remain close to the airport and all amenities. At just over 40,000 square feet, the new facility is approximately 5 times the size of our current operation.

The new building (built in 2001) was purchased by MacDon in the spring and is just a couple of miles from where we are today. Configured as a large warehouse, it provided a great opportunity to transform the interior to our specific needs.

This investment in our future will give us the needed space for repair parts, training and sales administration in order to properly serve our growing U.S. dealer network. The new facility will also include classrooms, a theater and a training center. Interior construction is well underway and we plan to move in sometime later this fall.

Stay tuned for fur ther updates!

Exterior view in the spring of 2006.

Empty interior – a clean slate!

The training center will have a 22 ft. door.

The walls are starting to go up!

Classrooms can hold up to 40 people.

The theater doors will open up into the training center.